Memorial Hall to Be Erected on 12th St.

Will Contain 2 Stories
Cost Estimated at $55,000

The war memorial hall, which is to be erected in Richmond in honor of the veterans of American foreign wars, will be constructed by Cobby & Oweley, San Francisco contractors. Recommendation to this effect was made to the board of supervisors Monday at Martinez by the building committee of the allied war veterans' organizations of Richmond. The building will cost $55,016, exclusive of the furnishings.

The building, which will stand on Twelfth st., just south of Macdonald ave. and next to Memorial park, will be of brick veneer construction, containing two stories and a basement. There will be two sets of lodgerooms and club rooms, an auditorium, dance floor, banquet hall, gymnasium and showers.

Ten bids for the construction were opened Monday together with several for heating installation, walls and interior alterations.

The bids ranged from $34,694 to $67,931.

Local Comment

The unfortunate episode that has disturbed the "elements" in Richmond in regard to the falling of plaster from the ceiling of the junior high school auditorium, which luckily fell when the auditorium was unoccupied, is causing criticism from various quarters, the school board coming in for a generous share, as well as contractor and architect. To place the responsibility on the school board for not having this work thoroughly inspected and passed, would seem unfair, as school trustees are not all skilled mechanics. Their duty is to award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder who, in turn must furnish bond to deliver the work as specified and required. It would not seem difficult to place the responsibility as to how the error was made and also who made the blunder. The "political" phase of the matter should have little consideration by the parents and taxpayers of Richmond who are fast becoming tired of that "old stuff."

There is shaking hands with us today and will be back to look us over again in 2424. Don't forget the date.

Back the movement for lower taxes and efficiency in state government. Vote for Henry Johnston for state senator.

Fountain in Porcelain

Superb Work of Art
Toward the close of 1923 the porcelain polar bear fountain, presented by the Danish government, was erected in the inner court of the Palace of Peace in The Hague. The war and other circumstances delayed the construction and erection of this beautiful work of art, which took five years to complete.

It was made in the royal Copenhagen porcelain factory, and was designed by the director, Prof. Arnold Krug, who is also the creator of the beautiful porcelain animals which make this factory noted.

The monument, with its polar bear and seals, and its blue tiles, representing the waves of the sea, is a great enhancement to the quiet and dignified courtyard. It is one of the largest fountains ever erected by the Copenhagen factory, the height being 3 feet and the diameter 50 feet.—Christian Science Monitor.

Richmond to Have 35 Minute Ferry Service

Work is being rushed rapidly by the Southern Pacific company in building its landing slip here for the installation of a San Francisco-Richmond ferry service. The dredger which will be used in clearing the slip arrived Monday night. The Southern Pacific company expects to have the ferry in operation October 3, and will try to maintain a 35-minute service.

Political Comment

Will R. Sharkey, incumbent state senator, is making a good canvass of the west end, and is receiving excellent support. It is predicted that he will run strong in Richmond, where he is almost as well known as in his home town. He is going strong and will poll a large vote among organized workers of Richmond.

Robert P. Basely, candidate for the state assembly, is completing his campaign in Richmond where the votes are, but "Bob" need not fear—he's elected. All have a good word for Basely, and during his campaign here he has made many friends. He will be an ideal representative at Sacramento for Contra Costa county, the banner county of California.

Henry A. Johnston, candidate for state senator, is making his campaign on business qualifications, claiming that the people need more business men in office and not so many politicians. While "politicians" have always succeeded in getting the votes, it remains to be seen whether a "business man" can compete successfully in "poling the persimmon."

Capital that employs labor and labor that employs capital alike are interested in settled, sound conditions at Washington. The disruption that an independent candidacy, fostered and promoted largely by socialist, non-partisan, farm-labor, and I. W. W. elements and their sympathizers, would be sure to bring in the nation's affairs is not what the great American body politic desires at this time.

To make a change in the national administration at this time, to launch the country on an adventure such as the La Follette candidacy signifies, can be neither sound nor safe. It is the stability that Coolidge has helped to give to the national government on which genuine progress can be founded. Uncertain government, adventurous government, in the end serve the cause of reaction.

Reduction of taxes, restoration of healthy financial conditions, and establishment of confidence in the government and in those who conduct it are of utmost importance for the nation's welfare.

The weekly newspapers of Contra Costa county are perfecting an organization which should interest all aspirants for public office. And there seems to be a glaring reason for such action.

Richmond has the votes but no representation in Sacramento and not much in the county offices. Meet Henry A. Johnston, who is from Richmond.

Mt. Shasta Dons Klan Uniform; Robed in White

McCloud, August 21.—Mount Shasta today was blanketed with a fresh snowfall, the first of the year, and the result of a sudden cold turn in the weather. It was considered important as snow storage in the mountain region has been one of the big problems facing hydro-electric companies in California this year as a result of the light snowfall during the winter. It was looked upon as pre-saging early snowfall in other mountain regions.

The same cold turn also stopped the mud flow from the Shasta glacier which slipped last week from the apex to nearly the base of the mountain. Danger of the melting glacier causing a flood on the McCloud river.

Municipal Wharf July Earnings

Total earnings at the municipal wharf were $2618.40 during the month of July, according to a report filed with the City Council Monday night by Harbor Master J. H. Misner. Fourteen ships docked during the month and 16,656.40 tons of cargo were handled.

Henry A. Johnston is a business man and just the man for the place—State Senator.

Dr. Eric M. Horner is on his annual vacation, leaving Seattle Wednesday for Alaska with a shipload of Jolly Sailors.

Patient's Frank Reply Made Governor Gasp

In the old days a would-be consul became first a student interpreter, and was supposed to acquire a knowledge of the languages of certain countries. When Mr. Wratlaw, who writes his reminiscences in "A Consul in the East" went through this training, he found himself, with four other candidates, dispatched to Constantinople and provided with an assortment of language masters, one each respectively for Turkish, Arabic, Persian and Greek. While at Bursa the author was called upon to take part in the ceremony of "opening" a municipal hospital. It was not finished, indeed only the ground floor was built, but so much money had been spent upon it that it was judged politic to declare it open in order to avoid inconspicuous questions. Bodily, instruments and patients were "borrowed" for the occasion, and the governor went from one to the other questioning them as to their malady. But even his splomb failed when, in answer to his query, one cheerfully answered: "Oh, I'm a lunatic!"

He Knows

The teacher had been giving the class an elementary talk on architecture. "Now," said she, "can anyone in the class tell me what a 'buttrez' is?"

Little Walter arose, his face beaming with a quick flash of intelligence. "I know," he shouted. "A buttrez is a nanny goat."

The 1924 wheat crop from about 10,000,000 acres of eastern Canada land will be added through three large pools that are to be merged into one.

The earth is next and makes the journey around the sun in 365 days.

Mars is second in size and makes the trip around the sun in 687 days.

City Budget For Year Approved

The city council Monday night gave formal approval to the city budget presented the previous week by City Manager James A. McVittie and calling for a total expenditure during 1924-25 of $33,600.

The budget was adopted unanimously. This year's budget shows an increase of $40,000 over that of last year, which is chiefly due to increased salaries owing to the addition of twenty men to the fire department.

Under the budget a tax rate of $1.35 will be necessary, exclusive of library and school tax. Last year .15 was necessary for libraries and schools, which would make the tax this year total $2 for each assessed $100 valuation.

Henry A. Johnston, candidate for state senator, is coming with the audience—vote for him.

Varying Sounds Made by Clock Explained

The two movements of the pendulum of a clock have different sounds, "tick, tick," or "tick, tick," and a clockmaker gives the following reason for the change in sound: The "tick" always marks the moment when the pendulum reaches the extreme point from its perpendicular on its right beat, and the "tick" similarly marks the extreme point on the left swing. The reason for this is that the anchor of the escapement mechanism is above the rotating escapement wheel and in the same plane. Therefore the conditions under which its arms strike the cog of the wheel are not the same for both arms. One of the arms of the anchor strikes the wheel cog moving upward, while the other anchor arm strikes against the cog when the wheel is moving downward. The result of the unequal conditions under which the two arms engage the cog of the escapement wheel is the cause of the difference in the sounds produced.

Home of Blood Orange

The blood orange, so-called from the deep red color of its pulp, is also called the Maltese orange. An authority on the subject says that these oranges are extensively cultivated in Malta and Provence, but are not restricted to these areas, as they are largely grown in the whole of the Mediterranean region. The cultivation of the sweet orange was unknown in ancient Mediterranean agriculture, neither the Greeks nor Romans having any knowledge of it. The authority mentioned has proved that India was the country from which the orange spread to western Asia and subsequently to Europe. It is very probable that its introduction into Europe may be placed to the credit of returning crusaders. Blood oranges are also now produced in the United States.

Henry A. Johnston, business man, is the man to represent us at Sacramento. Meet him 2 o'clock at the hall on your next state election day.

Do not let E. F. Basely will be elected to state assembly from Astoria. Why not support Henry A. Johnston for the state senate?

Reward Offered For Men Who Masked As Officers

A reward of $50 was offered today by the East Bay Water company for information leading to the apprehension of persons ordering restrictions on the use of water, according to a statement by George H. Wilhelm, vice-president and general manager of the company.

Wilhelm states that one Oakland business house was financially damaged when unidentified persons ordered him to discontinue the use of water after 5 o'clock.

He requested that consumers immediately notify the company if ordered to restrict water use, as there is no necessity for restrictions.

The estate of the late M. H. Carey is valued at $4000.

King Enjoys Job

"Well, Mr. Morrison, have you brought your fireman's helmet with you?" said King George, with a twinkle in his eye, to R. C. Morrison, Labor M. P. for North Tottenham, when he attended a court function recently.

Morrison tells this story against himself and also the reason for the king's jocular remark. It appears Morrison in a recent speech said if he had known what gorgeous dresses and uniforms were to be worn at the speaker's levee, he would have borrowed a fireman's helmet.

To Stimulate Forestry

Yale university at New Haven, Conn., has announced a fund of $2,000 given to establish the Charles Lathrop Pack foundation, the income to be used as a prize for the best original short story of popular interest on some forestry subject. Mr. Pack is president of the American Tree association and he has established similar funds at the Universities of California, Washington and Michigan, and the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse.

Henry A. Johnston will get a good vote in Marin county.

Former Richmond Young Man Calls

Sam Kluefelter, overseas veteran, who was formerly with the Western States Gas here as an employee, and who was one of the first volunteers to answer the call, came down from Seattle last week and stopped off a day or two to meet old friends. Sam did his share over seas, as his many medals testify, given for bravery at Argonne, St. Mihiel and other tight places. He has been visiting a sister in Los Angeles, whom he has not seen for a number of years. He is now connected with a large electrical company in Seattle.

Henry A. Johnston for state senator, was raised on a farm and has made a successful business man.

Don't Blame Central

An editor writes a long editorial on "how to speak over the telephone." Its worth knowing, but like all other faults of human nature it's natural to "pass the buck." The operator is often blamed by patrons, but the operator is an expert and is more apt to speak and operate correctly than the individual who grabs up the instrument excitedly and "jabbers" instead of speaking softly, distinctly and carefully. The eleventh commandment might be, "Remember thy own shortcomings."—Plainfield (Ill.) Enterprise.

The telephone companies in the United States have invested in telephone plants a sum equal to more than half the value of all the monetary gold in the vaults of the United States treasury and of the federal reserve system put together.

Not Enough Activity, Says U. S. Engineer

Albert E. Carter Says
Our Harbors Are Ideal

Albert E. Carter, commissioner of public works of Oakland and candidate for congress, spoke on harbor building at a luncheon given at the Christian church Monday under the auspices of the chamber of commerce.

Carter has made a life study of harbors, knows all the details connected with harbor building, and has plans for constructive work that are valuable, especially for the cities from Alameda to Martinez.

Carter has traveled extensively and inspected all the principal harbors of this and foreign countries. Those who heard his talk were well repaid.

Persistent Beaver

The sophisticated beaver that has been roaming around the village of Capitan refuses to move on, the Indianapolis News remarks. The first of last week the animal appeared near Ritchie's block on the shore of Caribon stream. The following day it was found in the same place by Superintendent Wadsworth of the state fish hatchery and driven down the stream into the Arroyo creek river, but on Friday afternoon the beaver once more came around to the Ritchie block and apparently doesn't intend to get out of town for any time.—Kansas City Journal.

Inner Harbor May Not Be Improved This Year

Congressman Charles F. Curry, who represents Richmond district and who works incessantly for the improvement of Richmond harbor, was here Tuesday and in an interview stated that it was the impression of Chief Engineer Major Taylor that there was no need of extending improvements on the inner harbor channel at present; that the waterfront on the inner harbor showed little activity, not enough to justify immediate attention by the U. S. government, who matches dollar for dollar with the city of Richmond.

Curry stated that if there should be an urgent or immediate demand for government action, provision would be made to continue the work of deepening the channel.

The inner harbor has the factory sites, Proctor & Gamble holding a most conspicuous one of some 25 acres which fronts on Cutting.

The waterfront is nearly all raw tideland. This condition will not continue long.

The question is asked: Which should be built first—the harbor or the factories?

It would seem that with the harbor completed, the industries would come with slight invitation.

Why not have a business man in the State Senate? Vote for Henry A. Johnston for state senator.

Richmond pays one third the taxes, has more voters than all the other voting precincts of the county combined, and is not represented in the state legislature and quite "skipping" in the Martinez courtships. There's a reason. Henry A. Johnston is a Richmond candidate for State Senator. Vote for him.

Richmond is asking the support of the voters of Contra Costa county for Henry Johnston, for State Senator. The only representation in the county courthouse from Richmond is Hon. H. V. Alvarado, superior judge.

While Richmond pays more than one-third of the taxes, the citizens are interested in all of Contra Costa county and ask their voters to support Henry A. Johnston for State Senator.

Backed by the State, Meet Henry A. Johnston State Senator.

FRENCH LEAVING RHUR TERRITORY

RESULTS OF LONDON CONFERENCE HALLED WITH RELIEF

COOLIDGE IS PLEASED WITH ACCOMPLISHMENT

France Evacuates Two Towns—Premier Herriot Stresses in Efforts to Complete Withdrawal in World Trade Anticipation

Paris.—The towns of Oesfing and Appenau, ordered occupied February 12, 1925, as punishment for German suppression of the Paris-Prague express train are being evacuated by France.

This is the first evacuation under the new records, and the event is heralded as evidence of Premier Herriot's complete sincerity.

The results of the London conference are hailed with relief in the French press and political circles, excepting only the extreme Nationalists or Royalists. Those redoubtable attacks as a result of M. Caillaux's speech, all the extremist organs labeling Premier Herriot and M. Caillaux as "German's men," with the usual accusations with regard to their campaign fund.

Plymouth, Vermont.—President Coolidge after listening to a sermon in glorification of simplicity and the worth of the commonplace things of life, sat on the porch of his father's house in Plymouth Sunday afternoon and listened to the reports of the European settlement, sent by Ambassador Kellogg, and read to him by Secretary Sloop.

Then he indicated what he wished to say about the London agreement, and it was communicated by Mr. Sloop in these words:

"He believes this is the most important result that has been accomplished since the armistice, with the possible exception of the Washington conference. It demonstrates as nothing else could the wisdom of the American position and the effectiveness of the American method of operation. With the governments of Europe taking this wise course, there should be little difficulty in securing the necessary financial support from private sources in this country. It looks as if the end of the war had come at last, and the beginning of an honorable, and we hope a lasting peace is at hand."

London.—The story of the London conference closed with a noteworthy incident. The signing of the documents was ended and the British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, was shaking hands all around. When he came to Chancellor Marx, the prime minister, still gripping the chancellor's hand, led him to where M. Herriot, the French premier, was standing surrounded by friends.

Without a word, so the story goes, MacDonald lifted M. Herriot's right hand and joined it with that of Dr. Marx. Then he stepped back, smiling genially, while the Frenchman and the German tightened the grip and shook hands cordially.

Washington.—A revival in world trade will follow the stabilization of the European economic situation which is expected under the operation of the Dawes plan, according to Alan G. Goldsmith, chief of the European division of the department of commerce. Goldsmith was one of the experts associated with the Dawes committee in the formulation of the plan which has just been approved at the London conference.

The adoption of the Dawes report by the London conference has meant the conclusion of perhaps the greatest effort since the war to bring about financial stabilization in Germany and economic reorganization in Europe as a whole, said Goldsmith.

George East Kidnapped Santa Rosa.—L. R. Arnett, night watchman at Central garage, was kidnaped by a bandit who took the cash register of between $40 and $50 and forced Arnett to drive him away in a car belonging to a San Francisco party. At Sonoma, Arnett was tied hand and foot to a tree by his captor, who then drove away. This is the third similar robbery and kidnapping in this vicinity in recent weeks.

E. A. R. Visits Plymouth Boston.—With a steamboat ride to historic Plymouth as the concluding feature of their fifty-fifth annual encampment, the G. A. R. veterans prepared for their annual August 15th Plymouth visit. The veterans, who took their departure from the city where they were gathered, attended a flag-raising rally at the Sons of Veterans, ending with an old-fashioned clam bake on Stevens field.

Visitor Off for Glen Rancho.—The Argentine aviator, Major Zanni, who arrived here from California on his trip around the world, has left for Rancho Glen. The distance between Rancho Glen and Rancho is approximately 100 miles.

Arrival at the Coast of Argentina.—Argentina is expected to receive an official delegation of about 100 men, including a number of naval officers, who will arrive at the next assembly if the necessary legislation is not adopted pending an official delegation.

REVENUE REVISIONS TO BE MADE POLITICAL ISSUE

American Bankers League to Demand Members of Congress for Original Treasury Program—Education Urged

Washington.—Members of congress who opposed the Mellon tax plan are to be bombarded with appeals by bankers' committees in behalf of the approval of the original treasury program when tax revision is again taken up.

The movement is being launched by the American Bankers League, headed by Charles de B. Claiborne of New Orleans. This organization has been allied with the Southern Pacific association and was formed during the "conservation" of traffic legislation in 1912.

The league, through Claiborne, has sent a letter on the subject to its banker members.

"No matter which political party wins in the coming election, our tax laws will undoubtedly be revised by the next session of congress and now is the time for the bankers of the country to take a more active part in the fiscal policy of the nation, since they are the highest authority," says Claiborne in the letter.

"As a banker you owe it to your community and to the nation to represent your fellow citizens and to your congressmen, your experience and observations of the application of tax legislation upon the progress of the community and its effect upon the people as a whole and to give them the benefit of your judgment as to the most capable remedy."

BARCELONA, COLD TO ROYALTY, ENTHUSIAST OVER FILM STARS

Paris.—The tale of the departure of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks from Barcelona three months ago was revealed by a Spanish exile hero who then was in the Oklahoma capital. The king and queen of Spain related from Rome and landed at Barcelona and received a chilly welcome, with absolutely no demonstration. While the royal couple were still resting in Barcelona Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks arrived and received such popular demonstrations that all the police were called out to protect them from the enthusiasm of their thousands of admirers.

The contrast was so painful to the sovereigns that Mary and Douglas were requested to leave Barcelona, which they did the next day.

LEGION TO ASSUME FINANCING OF REHABILITATION SERVICE

Washington.—The American Legion, after January 1, 1925, will take over the financing of its rehabilitation and liaison service for disabled former service men in which, for the last three years, it has been assisted by the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross in announcing the new arrangement, emphasizes that the termination of this financial aid would not end its service to disabled veterans. On the contrary, it said, "expenditures from its national funds are expected to continue in proportion to the need of the ex-service man and his dependents."

La Follette on All Ballots

Chicago.—Reports received from all states in the union indicate that the way is now clear for placing La Follette electors on all ballots in November. "I don't know of a single state where we can't get on," said J. M. Wilson, national campaign manager. "In fact, in West Virginia we will get on twice. In that state, where the Farmer-Labor party and independent candidates had prepared to run La Follette electors in Farmer-Labor and independent columns, respectively, an agreement had been reached that the electors in the two columns should be identical."

Pennsylvania Meets G. A. R.

Boston.—Louis F. Arnsberg of Arnsberg, Pa., was elected commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was past department commander of Pennsylvania.

John H. Luman of Illinois, who was favorite for the post, before the balloting, withdrew after the first ballot. Arnsberg, elected on the second ballot, received 333 votes. E. C. Hawk of California, received 213 votes. On Hawk's motion the election of Arnsberg was made unanimous. Grand Rapids, Mich., was decided upon as the next meeting place.

Thirty-three contracts have been awarded by the commission to be financed from the motor vehicle fees and gasoline tax funds, involving reconstruction, widening and thickening of 171.27 miles of state highway at a cost of $4,584,020.19.

Reconstruction work is now under way in the following counties: San Mateo, Placer, San Joaquin, Mendocino, San Benito, Humboldt, Monterey, Shasta, Los Angeles, Sacramento, San Diego, Santa Ventura, Santa Clara, Solano, Ormsby, Marin, Sonoma, Contra Costa, Lassen and Alameda.

The University of California has recently received several cash gifts to further research work along special lines. The following list of contributions has been made public by the regents of the university: A contribution of $2,000 from Miss Helen V. Crocker for work being done on ticks.

A $1,000 from Mrs. Clara Hillman for research in social economics are on the list. Others are two scholarships amounting to $150 each contributed by the San Francisco Lodge No. 31 of B'nai B'rith; $22,500, for continuation of the Levi Strauss scholarships, a part of a $65,000 donation by the Stern family. A bust of John A. Britton, late regent of the university, is one of the art gifts.

The state board of charities and correction has passed an edict to the effect that the new regulations in governing methods in children's institutions are to abolish corporal punishment. However, a record of other methods of punishment is to be kept at the various institutions. Revision of the fire prevention standards in state institutions for children were concluded, and fire protection will hereafter be under the direction of the local chiefs of fire departments.

Highway traffic officers face the problem of being thrown out of work if going without salaries for the next five or six months. Unless a way is found by the motor vehicle department to get around provisions of the motor vehicle act, according to Attorney General Webb, he holds that there is no legal way of paying salaries except by law. It is believed that a loan of money or the adoption of a new system of credit might possibly relieve the situation.

Governor Richardson recently spoke at Monterey on capital punishment and said, in part: "There is no reason for the governor of any state to commute to life imprisonment a death sentence unless new evidence is introduced. The law makes full provision for the rights of persons sentenced and there is a final court of appeal and I do not see why the governor should go above the law and the courts in these matters."

Governor Richardson spoke some time during the recent encampment at Del Monte with the national guard, living under canvas like a soldier, observing at close range the methods of the army. On his arrival he was given the traditional gun salute, and the chief executives of the state. He reviewed 2,000 guardsmen and was present at the athletic tournament.

Governor Richardson, president of the press association, will preside at the opening day of the seventeenth annual California state fair, August 30. The first day has been named "California Press Day," every editor in the state having been invited to attend.

School attendance reports for 1923-1924 in California indicate that the population has increased more in the last three years than from 1910 to 1920. The present population is 2,500,000, an increase of more than 1,370,000 since the 1920 census.

MAKING GOOD IN A SMALL TOWN

Real Stories About Real Girls

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE WOMAN WHO SEWS

ARE you "handy with the needle?" For the women who is, but who finds general dressmaking wearisome, and its demands that she adapt herself to the varying moods of her customers, there are many less exacting and more lucrative side lines and specialties.

"Most every woman likes to sew for little babies," declares one woman who has chosen to go so, "and the making of layettes is a well-paying business. I believe in giving the customer a chance to help if she wants to, for often she, too, likes to have just a hand in making the little garments."

It is a good plan for the layette-maker to avoid making "by order" or "to order" dresses, making, say, three different types of outfits. She could have their descriptions printed on correspondence cards, to send in answer to inquiries and to insert in some well-known local paper or woman's publication. The cards might read something like this: Number one—a cheap outfit, durable and well-made, but very plain; Number two—a medium priced outfit, made like a dress, but with less than the little tucks; Number three—an elaborate outfit, made from an extra fine quality of goods and hand embroidered.

The woman who is "handy with the needle" might make small boys' suits for long suit. Handwork, desirable on many types of wearing apparel, is particularly apropos here. In fact, the woman who can do handwork is lucky, whatever her specialty. She can make an excellent income embroidering bedspreads, dresser-scarves, table-runners, tablecloths, napkins and coverings. At Christmas time she will be able to make the small pieces of left-over linens for dollies, pin-cushions and couch-cushions. She might embroider some of these, and simply crochet a pretty edge on others.

A "make-over" shop is usually more profitable than a regular dressmaking establishment. The proprietress may buy old clothes of good materials, less worn-out than out-of-date. These may be cut down, combined if necessary, and made over into up-to-date models.

The public cleaner, drier and sewer, is another specialty. She should "make good" financially. She should provide space in some well situated shop, preferably a dyeing establishment, and display a sign which might read something like this: "Public Clothes Mender—Sews, Mends, Darns, From Socks to Shirts, From Gloves to Gowns—Yours for the Minute."

In any of these projects, a little advertising at the beginning through newspapers, and personal communication will help. But the woman who sews and specializes need not worry about her market.

PUTTING THE "COUNT" IN OVERDUE ACCOUNTS

IT ISN'T how much "nerve" you have, but how much tact; not how "hard-boiled" you are, but how diplomatic. That's what counts in the bill-collecting business, says a girl who is official bill collector for almost every merchant on her "Main Street." Here's why:

"Is your idea of a bill collector a person with an over-amount of 'push' and a disagreeably aggressive way? Such a person inspires antagonism, and is not a success," she declares.

"That's the reason a girl bill collector is often preferred to a man. A girl, more frequently than a man, has a little 'way with her' that will make the person approached want to pay, rather than lower himself in her estimation."

That means she must have poise, personality, and above all, dignity. Of course, the prospective bill collector must first of all find her clients in every small town there are stores, shops or factories whose business does not justify the employment of a permanently salaried collector.

The tact that will make her a good collector will also get her clients. The rules she must observe in dealing with clients and debtors are the same. She must be dignified in speech, dress and action. She must not let slang, must not boast or joke. And she must exhibit self-respect and demand the respect of others.

Perhaps she already knows some business and professional men who probably would have business for her. She should pass by the biggest businesses in the town as first, in favor of the "little fellows." When she has results to show, and the confidence that comes from achieving those results, then she may give the larger firms her attention. As she is acquiring her clients, and before she has approached a single merchant, she must be successful. She can and should look to give her the experience of collection experts.

Eventually, the successful girl collector may want to organize a collecting and adjusting agency in her town. The girl who is sure of herself, but unpretentious of the field, needs only to remember that 90 per cent of business today is carried on by credit extension.

East Indian "Tricks"

Exposed by Camera

The Indian "trick" is done by means, however, the same as the "basket-trick," where a native places a live baby in a basket, covers it up tight, then thrusts a sword through the basket in several places, enough to kill the baby over and over. These tricks have been exposed by the camera, says George G. Boyd in Adventure Magazine. The reason the natives were afraid of some trick to expose them, in which case the rope and basket tricks would become worthless as money-getters.

These are very old tricks. A man I used to know saw the rope trick on two or three occasions while traveling in India. He could not account for it. The trick he saw was this: After the boy had gone up the rope the man shook it and became angry. Then he took out a long knife, climbed the rope, holding the knife in his mouth. Directly the arms, legs, head and trunk of the boy came down in pieces, the man followed, shook the pieces together, pulled down the rope, took up a collection and departed. These tricks show nothing but the man and the rope when photographed, so it is done by suggestion and hypnotism.

After Ten Years

Monday, July 28, ended the first decade since the outbreak of the World war.

Four years of barbarous ferocity entailing the loss of 10,000,000 lives, the crippling of as many more, and property losses of nearly $152,000,000,000. Six years of halting, ineffective effort, fears, jealousies and selfishness among the victors, with complete failure to establish anything like a peaceful status among themselves.

After all these years of suffering and loss the nations of the earth are about where they were ten years ago, when nine-tenths of the civilized world rushed or were pushed into the conflict, and he who strove to impede the march of the militant majority was sent to his death or to prison. Today, ten years after its close, we feel its malign effects in increased taxation and high prices, in ineffective labor, in a scarcity of houses, in a certain deterioration of the moral fiber of society, observable on every hand. Into many American homes war brought poignant sorrow. Into all it brought sacrifice.

The powers and influences that precipitated the war still exist, but with even a firmer grip on the nations of the world, and the mass of the people are practically helpless. The financial powers of the world hold the key to peace or to war. They can open or close either door. Which shall it be?

That Theatre Tax

At the time that the propaganda for the abolition of the theater tax was being carried on through the press, a tearful plea was made for lightening the burden on the amusement of the people, and statistics were given to show the burden imposed by the tax. Inquiry at five theaters in a great American city where the admission charge is less than 50 cents, showed that in no case has there been any reduction in admission charges because of the tax being removed. While the tax has been abolished, in some cases the price has been increased. This is an age of "getting while the getting is good."

WOMEN OUT TO MEET 1924 VOTE

Women are getting down to the business of voting.

Statistics show that approximately 25 per cent of the women eligible to vote, actually voted in 1920. This means only about one out of every four.

In 1920 one state had 4,462,870 voting citizens, her total vote was 2,090,468. What about the 1,872,411 who did not vote?

The women's bureau of the Republican National committee, with headquarters in Chicago, has just issued an appeal to the women asking them to see that every eligible voter in their families goes to the polls on registration day.

Women are out to sound up the "voting election," and this means men as well as women.
